Life Is The Road You Take . . .

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth,

Then took the other as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less travelled by
And that has made all the difference.

ROBERT FROST

Dedication

The road through college is not always clearly marked and well lighted; oftentimes it is narrow and dark and winding with many detours and secondary roads branching off from it.

Frequently we are not sure of the correct path, of the best way. It is at times such as these that we look about for help and reassurance. For four years we have found the smile of friendship, the nod of approval, the word of encouragement most often in the person of one man.

Not because of a class allegiance or a professional interest has he become personally involved with the Graduates of 1968. Rather, it is because of his interest in us as individuals, as women attempting to make the right decisions, that he has befriended us. Because of his belief in us and treatment of us as mature students, because of his verbal encouragement and constant presence at all our activities both academic and social, we, the Class of 1968, dedicate our REGINA MARIS to Leo J. Bottari.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

For us, part of this difference lies in our college education and in those members of the administration and faculty who have influenced four important years of our lives

TRADITIONS

A road must begin somewhere. Whether it be long or short, difficult or easy to follow there is nonetheless a point from which it flows. In the same way, traditions begin as celebrations of some special event in life and, as the years pass, these celebrations become an integral part of the calendar. So it is at Salve Regina that each season of the academic year brings with it certain occasions which evoke memories of events both serious and light, and which are celebrated accordingly.
